LeClairRyan Expands Texas Presence with Dallas Office

DALLAS – National law firm LeClairRyan expanded its footprint in Texas today with the opening of a Dallas office.

The office will focus on aviation and labor and employment matters, in addition to offering a hub for clients to connect to the firm’s nationwide presence and breadth of practice areas.

“Part of LeClairRyan’s Law Firm 2.0 model means adapting to the needs of the marketplace and our valued existing clients,” said Thomas C. Regan, leader of the firm’s Litigation Department. “We are eager and ready to harness the opportunity for growth that this new office offers.”

The roster of attorneys includes aviation partner Christa Hinckley, employment litigation partner Billy Hammel, business litigation counsel Helen Mosothoane, and patent prosecution associate Todd A. Martin. The Dallas attorneys will work closely with the firm’s Houston office, where banking industry attorney Jason M. Medley serves as office leader.

“As LeClairRyan continues to evolve, our proximity to clients in the great state of Texas has become increasingly important,” Medley said. “Our coordinated efforts will ensure we are nurturing relationships between our attorneys and providing improved services.”

The office is located at 3333 Lee Parkway, Suite 600, Dallas, Texas 75219.
